

What do you think about a king or queen ruling in Germany?

I think, it is very good, to have no monarchy in Germany. I really cannot imagine, how the situation would be like if we have got a monarch here in Germany. But it is quite interesting to look for anyone, who could be the king/queen of Germany if there would be a king or queen.

In Germany there are many famous people. Some Germans are known all over the world.

For example there is Michael Schumacher. Nearly the whole world knows him. He is a German, but he's living in Switzerland. So he couldn't be a good king for Germany.

Another famous woman is Steffi Graf. But I think, she isn't interested in politics very much and so she also couldn't be a very good queen.

My opinion would be taking someone from our politicians. But whom?

There is our new president, Johannes Rau. He has got a very similar position compared to the British queen. He represent Germany all over the world. Perhaps he could be the king of Germany.

In my mind, I would say that we, here in Germany, never should get a monarchy again.
