

Found after 11 years

on a uninhabited island

11 years past a plane crashed on an island the missed people are found. But more, they got children!

The pilot of the plane suddenly dies. The 6 children, who were flying with him managed for several hours to keep the aircraft in the air, but they haven't known in which direction they must fly. And so at last they crashed on an inhabited island. They couldn't handle the two-way-radio and because of that they couldn't call for help. Nobody found them, because all searcher looked for them in a wrong direction.

Now, 11 years later some time an aircraft of the Royal Australian Air Force found them, while it was flying over the northern shore of Molineaux Island. On the beach was a big S.O.S.EGRET. signal.

When the rescue team arrived at Molineaux Island they saw 6 adults with 3 children. The adults looked like Europeans, but the children looked like native Australians. On the question, „what have you eaten all the time“, they answered that they ate nearly all you could find on the island. The „Islandpeople“ asked, which year there was. They haven't noticed exactly what a long time they were alone on the island. They also said many more, but you can't write all. I think, that you would hear a lot about that in the next time. GB
